Reiden, should easily become one of the leaders of the Vermont house.
His position in town and county affairs, his success as an attorney and his well-known qualities of close attention to details and zeal for his work, will all tend to make him a conspicuous member of that body.As the Monitor figures it Wilson was elected by the women votes of the equal suffrage states of the West.
Their votes swung several of the states that have been normally Republican and would have been so this year, into the Democratic column.
The Democratic argument, "He has kept us out of war," did the trick with the women. The women as a political factor must hereafter be reckoned with, as they should be, but their understanding of the situation today is a fallacy.Alfalfa demonstration work has occupied an important part of the time devoted to demonstrations by County Agent Deuel in this county. There are now at least 35 successful alfalfa demonstrations which comprise more than 50 acres in the county. At the time the county agent began work not a single successful stand could be found. Mr. Deuel states that he wishes to make alfalfa growing his main line of work during 1917. An effort was made to organize a system of cooperative spraying, last spring, whereby one sprayer could be used over several towns, but was not entirely satisfactory due to so many applications for work and bad weather.
It may be continued to some extent another year. However, Mr.
Deuel believes it would be more satisfactory for each community to look after its own spraying needs.The just past election shows a great victory for prohibition principles, and the day is at hand when the great national parties must declare themselves for or against the prohibition movement. Four more states voted "dry" Nov. 7, thereby closing 116 breweries, over 5,800 saloons and placing more than 2,000,000 additional population under prohibition laws. This is a great victory for the principle of prohibition by the statehood agency. But the "dry" sentiment is not alone told in the above figures. The prohibition party vote increased nearly 40 per cent and it received enough votes to have elected Hughes if he or his party had had the moral courage to declare against the saloon, and added the 350,000 votes the prohibition party cast to the popular vote he received.
The Monitor predicts that the Republican party will in 1920 make prohibition one of the planks in its national platform.Governor-elect Graham of Crafts-bury is a popular man in Vermont.
That no one entered the contest against him proves it, and the vote he received at the election proves it. Graham's record as state auditor for 14 years, and his well-known knowledge of Vermont and Vermont laws places him in a position to intelligently recommend some changes that should tend to cut the state's expense account without impairing the efficiency of its various departments. Mr. Graham has expressed his intention of carrying out such a program as far as lies within his power. This program means the making of enemies of some of those whose positions on commissions or boards will be jeopardized by proposed consolidations and eliminations.
For this reason it will be surprising if Graham leaves the office as popular as he now is. A real plan of retrenchment will pinch somewhere.
Nevertheless, the Monitor believes that Graham as governor will help to the line, letting the chips fall where they may, and in the doing he may be assured that the great body of the people will stand behind him. The most essential thing for the people of the state to do just now is to talk with their representatives-elect and see that they understand that the people demand support of a plan of retrain-ment for the state.

Never Split Hairs.

"Most bald-headed men are optimists," says an exchange. Come to think of it, we never saw any of 'em split hairs in an argument.

WHAT THE PAPERS SAY.

Pretty Small Politics.

Pretty reliable information comes that the incoming legislature will go after Charles A. Plumley's political head as state tax commissioner. The reason will be put up that the state treasurer can do the work, and thus effect a saving in the expense of the office of tax commissioner. But the real reason is that Mr. Plumley must be punished for his activity in supporting ex-Governor Fletcher for the United States senate. It will be interesting to watch what will become of Bank Commissioner Williams and F. L. Davis, secretary of the State Fair Commission—Burlington Clipper.

Train Public Speakers.

Lawyers dominate public affairs for the reason that they are trained in public speaking. The old-fashioned lyceum, in which men of all ages took part in the discussion of subjects of public interest, gave an opportunity for development for many men outside the law.—Brattleboro Reformer.
This opportunity for the development of the boys and girls of today in the direction of public speaking is sadly lacking. The maintenance of the lyceum feature in our high schools and academies would prove of great value, we believe, than some of the impractical and non-essential things yet retained in the courses.—Ludlow Tribune.

Doctors for Prohibition.

The Medical Society of Detroit, composed of practically every physician of good standing in that city, at a recent meeting voted in favor of prohibition. In explaining to a reporter for the Detroit Journal why the society did this, Dr. Hugh Harrison said: "In the United States 600,- 000 persons die annually from alcohol, more than are killed by wars, year in and year out. But physicians don't need statistics to show them the terrible evils of alcohol and the saloon. We see it every day. The awful crimes committed against their children are too terrible to brood over. The moderate drinker is weakening himself to the extent that his children may be born without a fair physical or mental chance in life.
Such children die at the first attack of disease." There is a large significance in this vote of the Detroit doctors. The physicians, of all men, should know the evils of alcohol.— Brattleboro Reformer.

How Beecham Made Millions.

There has recently died in England a man whose fortune grew from nothing to the colossal figure of $144,000,- 000. Sometimes we imagine that America alone can produce the pleasing spectacle of the self-made man, who passes his youthful days on the farm, dreaming of the business conquests of the years to come which will give him power and position.
Yet this Englishman was a poor farm-boy, and from nothing he created his monster fortune. His name was Beecham, and with the name is instantly associated the pills that are famous the world over. The secret of the Beecham fortune is the secret of so many American money pills.
Beecham was a wise buyer of publicity and he plastered the whole world—and so well known did he become that he was decorated by the Russian emperor and was made a baronet in his own country. He owed his wealth, his position, his power to do good through wise philanthropy, to his willingness to put large sums of money into publicity. He advertised on the American scale, and he made an American success of it. Advertising today is a necessity to each and every business man, be he large or be he small. The public has been educated into the advertising spirit, and the merchant who fails to give his wares publicity invites that neglect by the purchasing public that spells failure.

VERMONT NOTES

Stephen Aja, two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Aja, was run over and instantly killed and his body horribly mutilated by a switching engine on the Barre & Chelsea railroad at Barre Wednesday of last week.Elizabeth, six, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Reed of Manchester, died Nov. 7 in Londonderry. The child was playing about a bonfire late in the afternoon when her clothing caught fire. She was literally roasted. Her mother took her there a few weeks ago after another child in the family had died of infantile paralysis.George W. Duncan of Rutland, hotel keeper, aged 30 years, recently found not guilty of wife murder by reason of insanity at the time of commission of the act, will be confined at the state asylum at Waterbury for observation as to his present mental condition. Duncan appears perfectly rational at present and it is believed that his counsel, J. C. Jones and E. H.
O'Brien, will eventually move for his release from custody.William Dudley Pelley, formerly publisher of the Deerfield Valley Times in Wilmington and until a few months ago on the staff of the Bennington Banner, is a young writer of fiction who is gaining notable recognition. One of his stories, "Little Son of a Gun," was a feature in a recent number of the Saturday Evening Post. The writer has been contributing fiction to a number of magazines during the past three years, mostly stories with western settings, and the story in the Post is of circus life.The contract to build a 256-foot bridge across the Connecticut river between Woodsville and Wells River has been let to the United Construction company of Albany, N. Y., and the bridge is to be completed by July 1. It will cross the river just back of the present toll house. The bridge is to be of steel truss construction and is to have a 24-foot roadway of concrete covered with a two-inch asphalt surface. A six-foot sidewalk of concrete is to be placed on the south side of the bridge, a six-foot guard rail surrounding the bridge with four-light clusters on either side completes the overhead construction for the bridge. There are to be two supporting piers, making a strong construction of a bridge.The Vermont Holstein-Friesian club held its regular semi-annual meeting at St. Johnsbury Wednesday afternoon of last week. The business meeting commenced about noon and was followed by a banquet for the members and the club guests. The speaker of the afternoon was Gen. C. W.
Wood of Worcester, Mass., ex-president of the national association. Following the address, pictures of nationally known Holstein cattle were shown and their pedigrees given. At the business meeting before dinner, minutes of the annual meeting were read and corrected. The speaker of the evening was Gen. C. W. Wood, nearly 30 members of the state association were present besides invited guests.The work of revising the Vermont statutes is nearing completion. The actual revision is done, but the index is yet to be completed, and the proof read. The copy is now in the hands of the printers. The book which will be called "General Laws" will contain 7312 sections. It is interesting to note how the laws of Vermont have increased in number from revision to revision. Every new law enacted adds a little more. The number of sections the statutes contained from revision to revision follows: Laws of Vermont, 1797, contained 864 sections; Laws of Vermont, 1807, 1,634; Laws of Vermont, 1817, 3,125; Laws of Vermont, 1824, 1,977; Laws of Vermont, etc., 1834, 2,563; Revised Statutes, etc., 1839, 2,888; Complete Statutes, 1850, 3,553; General Statutes, 1862, 3,878; Revised Laws, 1880, 4,623; Vermont Statutes, 1894, 4,463; Public Statutes, 1906, 6,319; General Laws, 1917, 7,312.The exports almost doubled and there was a slight gain in imports in the Vermont customs district during the month of October, as compared with the corresponding month a year ago. There was a slight gain in imports and exports over the month of September. During October this year the imports amounted to $2,791,078, as compared with $2,382,673 in October, 1915, and the exports were $5,- 709,718, as compared with $3,205,834 in the corresponding month last year.
The duties collected amounted to $21,359,21, while in October, 1915,they were $36,495.59. The free merchandise imported last month amounted to $2,638,920 and the duty-able merchandise $142,158. In October last year the free merchandise imported amounted to $2,151,893 and the dutyable merchandise $230,780.
The amount of the domestic merchandise exported during the month was $5,105,141 and the foreign merchandise amounted to $604,577. In October, 1915, the value of the domestic merchandise exported was $2,929,579 and the foreign merchandise exported amounted to $276,255.Stanley C. Wilson of Chelsea, who was selected as representative to the general assembly, has announced that he is a candidate for speaker of the house at the approaching session.
Two years ago, Mr. Wilson was a candidate for that position, but at the last moment withdrew from the contest in the interests of harmony, and seconded the nomination of Judge Weeks. Mr. Wilson is a lawyer. He was born and raised on a farm in the town of Orange, educated at Goddard seminary and Tufts college, studied law in Montpelier, where he did newspaper work to pay his expenses, and has been in active practice of law for twelve years. He was an official reporter in the legislature in 1902 and again in 1904, and state's attorney for Orange county from 1908 to 1912.
In the last legislature, he was a member of the committee on rules and judiciary and chairman of the committee on ways and means, besides serving on several special committees.Aching Teeth

Signs of Danger

That Should Be Heeded by Barton People.There's serious danger in neglecting any weakness of the kidneys. The warning nature gives should not be overlooked. If troubled by too frequent passage of the kidney secretions; burning or scalding; if the secretions are highly colored and contain sediment, when left standing—if you have backache, too, with frequent headaches and dizziness, make up your mind that your kidneys are affected and begin using some reliable kidney remedy. Deaths from kidney disease have increased in the United States alone, 72 per cent in the last 20 years. The risk is great, you can't afford to delay. Barton people
